The New Jersey Legislature Hold a Continuous Sitting.

The Entire Night Spent in Merry-making.

They Are Still Locked Up, Awaiting a Full Meeting.

SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.

Trenton, N. J., March 27.—The longest session ever held by the New Jersey Legislature has just been held in the Assembly yesterday morning at 10.30 o'clock and is still in progress. The cause of it all is that the Democratic leaders, weary of trying to coax several recalcitrant members into line on party bills, have decided to force a continuous sitting till all are present, and by then putting the bills to a vote before the disgruntled and hostile members have time to get out of the chamber and back to their party or else come out flat-footed against it.

The absentees at the beginning of this prolonged session were Schenck, a Newark saloonkeeper; Kery, of Paterson; and Patterson, of Monmouth, Democrats, and Woodward, Republican.

The latter two turned up yesterday and Kery arrived under escort. The session was held in the morning and continued till midnight. The session was reported on by the House early this morning and by early this afternoon it is believed the long agony will be over and the regular bills will be passed.

The all-night session was attended by many funny scenes, which the crowded galleries heartily enjoyed and occasionally applauded. A luncheon was served in the cloak-room, and members visited the monopoly of the roll-call by frequent visits to the well-laden tables.

There was no lack of "cold tea," and by midnight the Assemblymen were all on excellent terms with one another. Everybody had a clear head in the morning, and the result was that the air became thick with smoke and the Assembly Chamber seemed to have dropped into a London fog.

The members saluted each other by the most familiar of salutations. "Good morning," "Hello," "Warren," who weighs 310 pounds, being hailed as "the New Jersey Arsenal," and a little member from Burlington, who is a clerk in the Assembly, being pleasantly called "Our Old Boy."

Frank McDermitt was in the chair during the evening relieving Speaker Hudspeth, and he presided on the floor the best he knew how. He was very much amused by the scene and made some member to entertain with a speech or a song.

"Suppose we hear from Mr. Cole, of Cape May, on his game bills?" was one of Frank's invitations.

"Cole, who is a somewhat fractious little individual, replied: 'I could tell you lots about game in South Jersey, but I confess that down there I never met much with game and I have spoken in this chamber to-night.'"

"You understand that the gentleman desires to be excused?" asked McDermitt, tactfully. "Cole asked a moment and returned: 'When I was a boy I read the story of how a man was safe in the lion's den, so I guess I'll risk my neck here.'"

"General laughter." "But these were only the occasional flashes that relieved the tedium. Most of the session was nearly enough, with the incessant call of the Clerk for 'Aye' and 'Nay.'"

The House throughout the day and night was under a call, and Speaker Hudspeth refused to entertain any other business meanwhile. By actual count it is said that Kery and Schenck were called 4,775 times.

As Kery finally appeared before midnight he received a tremendous ovation. Then the same Schenck also was called out, and so the night wore away. "Hearty" was the member of the House took the chair and presided over the session. "Hearty" was the member of the House took the chair and presided over the session. RACER TO BE POSTMASTER.

Six Prominent Candidates for Mr. Pearson's Post Office.

As April 3 draws near and the time approaches for Postmaster Pearson to bid good-bye to the Federal building, the host of hungry office-seekers in the local Republican machine grow nervous and anxiously inquire if President Harrison is going to do anything towards feeding them, and if so what and how.

All sorts of stories have been made for the local Federal offices and forwarded to the White House for Presidential consideration.

One which is said to have the sanction and approval of the Executive is that President Harrison will appoint a committee to give the Collectorship of the Port to John H. Edwards. Nearly all of them concede that this is the best man for the job.

This state would make Emigration Commissioner Taylor Postmaster, but Senator Cornelius A. Van Antwerp will object. As will also R. H. Amidon, W. H. Bellamy and Geo. Lounsbury, also candidates; while it is whispered that President Harrison will appoint of all the states and appoint the man whom he would have made collector—John F. Gurnea—to the position.

No one seems to deny the right of John Wesley Jacobs to something good in the way of official position, and that something is generally acknowledged to be Surveyor of the Port.

His name, like that of Col. Edwards, appears on every slate that is made in Brooklyn by Theodore B. Willis, who has modestly written his own opposite "Surveyor."

MISS DORE'S LOST RINGS.

Two Valuable Christmas Presents Lost During a Theatre Visit.

LAST—Two gold rings, one set with diamonds and the other with pearls, valued at $100 and $125 respectively, were lost by Miss Dore at the theatre.

Miss Dore received the rings as a present last Christmas. Saturday afternoon she went to Palmer's Theatre to hear the McCall Opera Company. She wrapped the rings in a piece of tissue paper and put them in her pocket.

Then she returned to the Barrett House, the rings were missing. She found the gold watch and purse were still in her pocket.

The rings are worth $200 and $125 respectively. Whistling Girls at Doris's Museum.

Of all the innovations introduced into the museum of this country, probably Doris's Whistling Convention takes the lead. Doris must have had some design behind this great attraction of his when he went to the Windy City for the girls, for they come, twelve in number, from Chicago. The young lady leader is Miss Mrs. S. S. and is really a wonderful whistler. One of her labial inflations whistled as a solo last night evoked round after round of applause. The Whistling Convention and the Armless Man putting pins in clover with his toes are making a hit.

BECAUSE OF AN UNPAID BILL.

New Haven Fire Officials Let West Haven Go on Her Own.

SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.

New Haven, Conn., March 27.—A fire broke out this morning in the livery stable of Miss Williams in West Haven. The stables were entirely destroyed and also the school-house.

The borough of West Haven is without any fire apparatus and the only means of fighting the flames was by means of a bucket brigade.

WANAMAKER TURNS 'EM OUT.

GREAT CHANGES IN THE RAILWAY MAIL SERVICE SOON TO COME TO PASS.

(SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.)

WASHINGTON, March 27.—With many protestations of reform, Postmaster Wannamaker has commenced the clean sweep in his department by removing all the Superintendents of the Railway Mail Service who were appointed under the last Administration, and reinstating the men who were removed by Mr. Vilas or Mr. Dickinson. Radical changes in the personnel of the mail service are expected within the next thirty days.

Blaine's Private Secretary Dies.

Miner's Remains are being taken to the home in which Chauncey L. Filley has been buried. He worked hard during the campaign, and his death was a great loss to the cause. He was a member of the Republican party and a close friend of Mr. Blaine.

TO MURDER HER HUSBAND.

A Pennsylvania Woman Accused of Killing and Arming an Assassin.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., March 27.—Mrs. John Thuring, of Allegheny, was arrested early this morning, and the officer who made the arrest charged her with having planned to get her husband out of the way in order that she might get the $2,000 insurance on his life.

According to the officer's story, Mrs. Thuring gave a revolver and $200 to a man who agreed to shoot Thuring at 11 o'clock last night; but instead of doing so, the man gave the plan away to the police.

Presented to the Narragansett.

Mayor Grant's Club, the Narragansett, of the Nineteenth District, was presented with a splendid crayon portrait of Fire Commissioner Croker by Mr. Croker's Club, the Taunton Central Association, of the Eighteenth District, last evening.

Warden James P. Keating, supported by a goodly delegation from the Twenty-first Ward, made the presentation, and the visitors were handsomely entertained with a beefsteak dinner.

Found a Thief in Her Rooms.

David Cohen, of 35 Allen street, forced an entrance into the apartments of Annie Franz, in the same house, and had packed up her money, jewelry and other valuables, and gave the alarm. At the Essex Market Police Court this morning he was held for trial.
